

Try out the “2 Room Test Pattern”

The “2 Room Test Pattern” (available online at <http://www.tutorialdiversions.org/homesetup.html> or at all “Home Setup Showrooms”) need not accompany every use of “Home Setup,” but was conceived especially for the testing of various setups in a single space. Of course, any audio material may serve as your preferred test pattern.

However, because the “2 Room Test Pattern” was specifically created as a kind of “Home Setup” litmus, Tutorial Diversions encourages you to consider including a recording of the “2 Room Test Pattern” as played through your own “Home Setup” stereo system along with your “Home Setup” submission. In turn, these re-recorded submissions may also be downloaded by other users along with your “Home Setup” and may also be further re-recorded and re-submitted by others.

(When building up the setup of a user from, for example, France, you might also try comparatively playing that French user’s recording of the “2 Room Test Pattern” in your own re-setup space, then recording and re-submitting this recording of a re-recording for others to further use and enjoy.)

2 Room Test Pattern (ohrenhoch)